Introduction

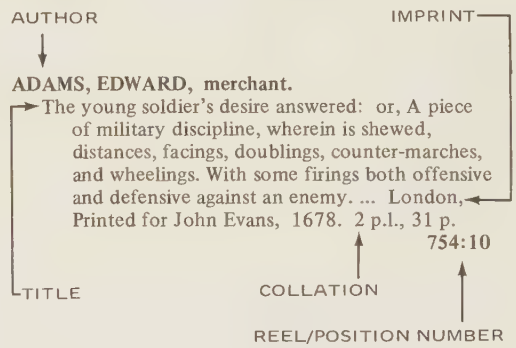
University Microfilms International's Early English Books, 1641-1700 series is a microfilm collection of books and other materials selected from Donald Wing's Short-Title Catalogue of Books Printed in England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales and British America and of English Books Printed in Other Countries, 1641-1700. Begun in the late 1950's, this microfilm project is ongoing, and is expected to be completed sometime in the next few years. The collection covers one of the most important periods of English history—that of the Civil War, the Commonwealth, the Restoration, the Whig Revolution, of the reigns of Charles I and Charles II—years which saw the birth of modern science as well as modern politics. This index has been compiled to provide better access to the 25,000 titles in Units 1-32 of the collection and is intended to supersede all reel guides for these units.

ABOUT THE MICROFILM COLLECTION

Units 1-32 consist of 995 reels of 35mm polyester base silver-halide film. Since titles are not filmed in the same order in which they are listed in Donald Wing's catalog, or all at once, items from throughout the bibliography are added with each unit. Items on the film are arranged by Wing number and are preceded by a "title" card with the symbol of the holding library displayed. The list of contributing libraries with corresponding abbreviations can be found on page vii and a list of series units with corresponding reel numbers is given on page ix. The seventh series unit is comprised of materials selected from the Thomason Collection of the British Library. These items, appearing on reels 228-266, are arranged and identified by Thomason number (e.g. E.177(1)).

HOW TO USE THE INDEX

This index contains 22,000 fully cataloged titles plus 3000 broadsides, Bibles, etc. with author and title entries. In order to provide better access to the vast amount of information in the index, this multi-volume index provides 4 sections: Author, Title, and Subject Indexes, and Wing number Cross-Index.



Format

The Author Index and the Cross-Index are bound together, but have separate paging, while the Title and Subject Indexes each make up separate volumes. Entries have been cataloged according to Anglo-American Cataloging Rules (First edition) and therefore do not necessarily correspond to the original entries in Wing's catalog or to the title cards on the film. Wing numbers (the numbers assigned by Donald Wing in his Short-Title Catalogue) are not included in the Author, Title or Subject Indexes. For access by Wing number, please consult the Cross-Index.

To facilitate use of the catalog, bibliographic information for each work is cited in all but the Cross-Index, with varying degrees of detail. In the Author and Title Indexes, all main entries display complete bibliographic description of author, title, imprint, collation, and reel number, except the 3000 broadsides, Bibles, etc. Some titles appear on more than one reel; in that case both reel numbers are given. Secondary entries display only brief information and are cross-referenced to the main entries (see Cross-References for details). In the Subject Index, complete bibliographic information is made available. The Cross-Index lists only the Wing number and the reel number where the title can be found.

Arrangement of entries is alphabetical, except in the Cross-Index where titles are arranged in Wing number sequence. Entries are filed by ALA filing rules, disregarding punctuation and spaces.

SAMPLE ENTRY:

Author Index

The author entries are arranged in alphabetical sequence by last name, first name, and then by dates. Names starting with Mac or Mc are interfiled as if they were spelled Mac. Personal names beginning with a prefix are filed as if they were one word; for example, Van Gogh is filed as VanGogh.

Cross-Index

This cross-index between Wing numbers and reel numbers is a listing of the titles which have been filmed and the reels on which they can be found. Entries in the index are generally self-explanatory. An a or b following a Wing number indicates a variant edition. A Wing number in parentheses following another Wing number indicates that the first item was bound and filmed with the second item; the number in parentheses is the number to look for on the film. If the Wing item is in several volumes or parts on different reels, these are also listed in parentheses following the Wing number. For the titles in the seventh unit, which are selected from the Thomason Collection of the British Library, the cross-index lists in brackets the Thomason number which must be used to locate the Wing item on the film. Some of the Thomason tracts appearing in Unit 7 are not included in the Wing catalog. These items are listed by Thomason number in a separate section at the end of the Wing Cross-Index.

Title Index

Titles are listed alphabetically in the Title Index. All initial English and foreign language articles are disregarded in filing. In cases of archaic spelling; i.e., when vv is used for w, the words are filed as written. For example, the title Nevvs Ovt of Spaine files before The New Academy of Complements.

Subject Index

Entries in the Subject Index are arranged alphabetically by the Library of Congress subject headings, with the exception of historical headings which are filed chronologically. For example: Great Britain–Church History–Modern Period, 1485- is filed after Great Britain–Church History–13th Century. Under each subject heading, entries are listed alphabetically by main entry.

Cross-References

Cross-references are provided for the following situations:

1. For works with more than one author, entries for secondary authors are provided with brief bibliographic descriptions and are cross-referenced to the prime author, where complete bibliographic information is available.
